

Each of us has a beginning. A place where we decide to be our authentic selves. But what usually happens after we make that decision is that we wind up stumbling around in the dark, grasping at whatever pearls of information we can find that might lead us closer to our final destination . . . that being our actual authentic self.

The staff and volunteers at Transgender Visibility & Education Network have spent more than twenty years (combined), procuring research studies, educational websites, informational resources, medical and surgical guidelines, legal guidelines, and political positions. For the past few years (since 2015) we have been endeavoring to share as much of that information with you, via our Facebook page, as we possibly could. We are also excited to have a website worthy enough for you to visit (frequently, we hope) and share with everyone you know. It is our plan to keep these listings of resources ever-evolving so that you will always have an up-to-date source for all of your transgender educational & visibility needs.

Our Story

The Transgender Visibility & Education Network was designed to offer information, resources, and visibility for all things transgender. There are tons of websites out there which offer pieces of the puzzle, but TVEN – through our website, social media, and quarterly magazine – pulls all of those resources together into one easy-to-find place and serves to offer information which caters to:

- Transgender & Non-Binary Individuals
- Family, Friends, Coworkers, and Allies
- Professionals and Businesses

TransgenderVEN.com
Facebook: @TransVENetwork
info@transgenderven.com

Transgender Visibility & Education Network

A one-stop clearinghouse for all things Transgender

Our Services

TVEN Quarterly Magazine:
Each issue focuses on a different theme which is important to the transgender community.

Transgender Community Education:
Providing educational resources to benefit all members of the community.

Transgender Community Visibility:
Building community through enhance visibility and systems of support.

TransgenderVEN.com
Facebook: TransVENetwork

Every day more and more people around the world dive into the ocean of information available via the internet in the hopes of landing on that one pearl of information that will help them to understand and learn about transgender (identity all-inclusive) individuals and the wonderful lives that we are blessed with. TVEN was built with this specific purpose in mind, to act as a central hub for all of those pearls of information. It is our hope that we can ease the stress our visitors experience, by finding the information for them and keeping it located in a centralized location.

Contact us now about additional services, resources, or speaking engagements

Info@TransgenderVEN.com